

Review of: "Factors Influencing the Laptop Buying Behavior of Students in Vietnam"

hassan Abuhassna¹

¹ Universiti Teknologi Malaysia

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Though helpful, the abstract may be enhanced by condensing the technique discussion, focusing on the most relevant findings, and finishing with a statement about the study's importance. Include relevant keywords to improve content discoverability. These changes can improve the abstract's readability and importance. I propose building on the material there, including the fact that there are numerous types of random sampling. Depending on the sampling process, data can represent the population or the sample. Though fascinating, the data lack scientific rigor for comparison with other studies. Look for studies that used the research variables similarly, whether together or separately. data analysis strategy and compare your findings to others. Discuss past research in the introduction.