The paper is well written in general. It is suggested to remove some of the well known facts and focus more on the contribution of this paper. The paper has good structure and is in the scope of this journal. The following points should be considered by the author of the article.

1. The language of the manuscript is good. But there are some small typos in whole of the manuscript. Please carefully double-check the paper and correct all these errors in the revised version.
2. At the end of the abstract, some descriptions about the obtained results should be added.
