

Review of: "Hydroxyapatite coating techniques for Titanium Dental Implants — an overview"

Jihui Wang¹

¹ Tianjin University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

In this manuscript hydroxyapatite coatings for titanium dental implants by using different preparation methods are reviewed, and the advantage and disadvantages are compared and discussed. But the detailed information about the hydroxyapatite coating such as surface morphology, structure, corrosion resistance and biomedical behavior are needed to summarize and involve in depth. Meanwhile, the conclusion of this manuscript and the future prospect of hydroxyapatite coatings for titanium dental implants should be presented.