

Review of: "Attitudes, and Knowledge of Pharmacy and Medical/ Dental Students towards, and Barriers to Inter-Professional Education and Collaboration in the United Arab Emirates"

Roberta Markovic¹

¹ University of Nis

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The subject matter of this paper is interesting and of great importance, and the work is very rich. My suggestions are related to the consistency of the title and content. Either the title does not match the paper, or the content of the paper does not match the title. The title should be adapted to the content, as most of the work is related to the impact of including pharmacists as healthcare team members. The results shown in the tables are without accompanying comments in the text. The discussion, neither the conclusion, seems convincing based on the presented results; outcomes should be presented in a significant manner. It is necessary to complete the discussion or to redefine the objective of the paper. The work defined in this way leaves a dilemma regarding the goal, whether the benefits of international cooperation and IPC or the role and influence of including pharmacists in health care, are analyzed.