The abstract looks quite long, but is clear and complete. The abstract contains background, problems, methods, results and recommendations.

The introduction clearly explains the background and objectives of the research. The problem statement needs to be clarified/sharpened.

The Intersectionality Theory section has provided an excellent explanation.

If possible, a chart can be made that illustrates the methodology.

In the Finding and Discussion section, it is proposed to change the content. In this section, a summary of the Dean's statement is sufficient. The complete statement is presented in the appendix. This suggestion does not absolutely have to be carried out but is only a suggestion for improvement.

Conclusion, Recommendation and Further Research are quite clear.
