Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

I appreciate the research topic as interesting and important. I commend the authors for their effort.

I have a few comments that might help.

The analysis of similar research, carried out by the authors, is necessary and useful, but it is presented by them only for the existence of this chapter, without framing it in the problematic. The authors formulate the research hypotheses correctly.

The research done is one with good potential. I would choose to add to this research the statement of research objectives. Next, it would be useful for the authors to organize the results in the direction they now have by stating the hypotheses. In this way, a validation of the research can be achieved, and the conclusions could be better combined with the results.
