

Review of: "Factors Influencing the Laptop Buying Behavior of Students in Vietnam"

Taher Ben Yahya<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Universiti Teknologi Malaysia

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This article provides valuable insights and offers opportunities for enhancement through the consideration of the following aspects:

1. In the abstract, it would be advantageous to incorporate a succinct overview of the attained results and the consequential implications derived from the conducted research.
2. The methodology section clarifies the process employed for determining the sample size and whether the survey questions were adopted, adapted, or original.
3. The presentation of the conceptual framework would contribute to a more comprehensive understanding of the research's theoretical underpinnings.
4. It is recommended to expound upon the specific theoretical foundation that supports the conceptual framework.
5. The augmentation of references, particularly within the literature review segment, is encouraged to fortify the contextual underpinning of the research and demonstrate more extensive references.