Authors have presented here an interesting work. Comparison and correlations made in the study are quite relevant and appropriate. It could have been better, if author could have considered few more water samples. However,

1. In the entire document no table or figure were found to review properly. Those should be provided.
2. Discussion portion needs little modification to make it more interesting.
3. Conclusion of the study also need to be framed properly.
4. It is always better to make use of few recent literature references, if available.

Otherwise, if minor modifications are incorporated, the study can be recommended for publication in the journal.
