The abstract lacks essential components. It should provide a concise conclusion of the study and clearly articulate the study's objectives. I recommend that the author revises the abstract accordingly to align with standard practices. Introduction Deficiency: The introduction section requires substantial improvement. It should delve deeper into the foundational aspects of the problem to provide readers with a clearer context. The author should focus on elucidating the importance and significance of the study within the broader research landscape. The materials and methods section is inadequately developed. It requires more detail and clarity to ensure the reproducibility of the research. The author should invest additional effort in enhancing this section.
