Introduction

The introduction is relatively short and not very well written.

Please follow the standard format in preparing the introductory section:

- Overview and Motivation
- Problem Statement
- Objectives of the Study
- Research Contribution
- Research Questions and the Methodology the study applies
- Key Findings of the Study
- The structure of the paper

Literature review

The literature review has not been well developed. It contains references to a very limited number of studies but many of them are not very new. Moreover, it is not clear how these papers are related to each other and to the current work.

Therefore, the literature review section needs to be extended that would offer detailed and extensive review of previous studies. In particular, please add direct references to the most recent strand
