

Review of: "The Impact of Tax Revenue on Macroeconomic Variables: A Case Study from Palestine"

A. F. M. Ataur Rahman¹

¹ North South University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The paper is well-written and on a topic that is not frequently addressed in the literature. However, the conclusion section is too long, and the paper misses a section called "discussion on results." The authors may put some of the discussion given in the conclusion section in that section.

The results should be explained more.

Overall, publishable.