

Review of: "Tourists' Activities and their Impacts on Chinhoyi Caves Heritage Site, Zimbabwe"

Melissa Lenczewski¹

¹ Northern Illinois University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This article examines different tourist activities and their impact on a cave site in Zimbabwe. The methods used were interviewing tourists and staff then classifying the responses. The authors do a great job of categorizing the different types of tourist activities then relating that to this case study. Overall it is a good paper and has some solutions that will help the site. I would recommend adding some of the results to the abstract and updating coca cola empty cans to "Coca Cola empty cans".