

Review of: "Analysing crimes in public spaces of New Delhi through news reports: The need and possibility of integrating Crime Prevention through Environmental Design Principles."

Sujatavani Gunasagaran¹

¹ Taylor's Education Group

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The paper's focus on the intersection of urban design and crime prevention in New Delhi is commendable, and it contributes to ongoing discussions about enhancing safety in public spaces. Suggestion to add a clearly outlined practical implications and recommendations for policymakers and urban planners. Hope this could help New Delhi to reduce the crime rates.