The article is well written and well structured. I like how the data is presented based on the research objective which makes it easy for readers to follow. I have few suggestions for improvement:

1. It would be helpful to explicitly mention the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) wherever you have referred to Goal 5.
2. It seems the analysis more of the data collected by deans, rather than wholesome data collected from other academicians as well. Hence suggesting you to also mention the questionnaire results with its percentage to highlight the data collection from other respondents as well.

Thanks
