Dear editor, hello. The article has an interesting topic, but in the writing of the article, important content can be seen that must be corrected by the authors in order to be accepted: The main content should be presented in the abstract. The introduction is very short. It is necessary to provide a thematic gap. Research innovation must be presented in this section. The theoretical foundations should be updated. The 2023 and 2022 articles should also be presented. It is necessary to provide the authors' reasons for the moderator variable. Why the authors have used SEM, and what is the reason for choosing a statistical sample? Analyses are well provided by the software. Thanks.
