The article has a clear objective and the central postulate is understood, it has coherence and cohesion in the writing and the images help to understand the author's arguments.

However, there are some important considerations. As it is a scientific article, citations must be added correctly; during the text it is not possible to understand which part belongs to which of the references placed at the end of the text. On the other hand, the references used are from the author himself; the theoretical body should be solidified by incorporating vocational guidance studies from different regions and temporalities.

Although the objective is clear, the methodology and the analysis of results are not concise, it is not explained in an objective and detailed manner how it reached these stages of vocational development, nor does it give us elements of context in terms of public policy to understand how the ministries function.

Context and teoretical references could make this article fulfill its social function, by placing elements to improve vocational guidance in the different stages of human development.

Greetings.
