Thanks to the authors for undertaking this important research. I have read the paper with great interest. While the paper describes some important findings on the Glycemic Control and Its Determinants Among Type 2 Diabetes Mellitus Patients in Southwestern Cameroon, the methods section could be a bit more detailed. As the paper represents a scientific tone, the readers may wish to know why they took 131 participants, how they chose them and how the findings are generalized. I am happy to read a revised submission of the manuscript. Thank you.
