

Review of: "A First Chat with ChatGPT: The First Step in the Road-Map for Artificial Intelligence ..."

Joseph Makokha¹

¹ University of Oslo

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article provides the author's perception of ChatGPT based on his interactions with the conversational AI. While the article presents some first-person account of the interactions as well as examples of the encounters, it lacks evidence as well as the level of rigor required for the kind of paper that others can cite or rely to support their work. The author can improve the paper by adding relevant background as well as incorporating additional data from sources such as relevant case studies or experiments.