The review is as follows. The rating in my opinion for the paper is 4.

- Please write the introduction in 3 k paragraphs. What, why and how.
- Please write the literature review properl. Please write the literature variable wise and frame the hypothesis for each variable.
- In some of the cases the correlation coefficient is very high. Please try to drop the variables from estimation with high correlation.
- Please use Hasuman test and LM test for deciding the choice between Random effect and Fixed effect. Describethe Hausman test and the LM test in detail.
- Please use the GMM test also for the robustness analvsis.
- Authors are advised to divide the data based on different parameters like large and small companies based on total assets, etc.
- The authors may use interaction terms in orderto find out the difference in the data set based on the various parameters.
