

Review of: "Female Youth Unemployment in the GCC Countries"

Mohamed Elmaghrabi¹

¹ Al Ain University of Science and Technology

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Overall, a well written article with sound statistical analysis. Although, the article was published at the end of 2022, it only included one reference from year 2022. Thus, there could be room for updating the references. The article body has no mention to its contributions and has a very thin conclusion/discussion of the main findings. Elaborating on the these parts could provide the reader with further insights into the female youth unemployment in GCC labor market / social contract.