

Review of: "[Perspective] AI Is All About Typing the Right Phrase"

Nada Mallah Boustani<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Saint Joseph University of Beirut

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article is interesting and contextual, the current version is better structured than the previous one; the references are new and relevant to the research; however, I believe the author should consider these comments:

1. The conceptual diagram related to the relationship between AI and Human must rely on specific theories and is the core of the study; it should be discussed and the steps well defined.
2. What is the methodology used to suggest this model?
3. The research question must be well identified and to reveal if the author had answered it.
4. All the answers given to the topic must refer to a certain theory; innovation theory, TAM,...
5. I couldn't find a conclusion, limitation, and future studies.