

Review of: "A Simple Dynamic Model for Daily New Cases of COVID-19"

Stamatios Papadakis¹

¹ University of Crete

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Both abstract and introduction, don't provide a concise overview of the topic and doesn't inform the reader of what to expect in the article.

There does not appear to be an explicit theoretical framework in relation to the manuscript scope.

Regarding the results, data analysis must be critical and interpretive.

The discussion should be more concise, and the outcomes should be discussed in relation to the existing research.