

Review of: "Urban Agroecosystems in Dynamic Yamuna River Sandbars in Delhi, Capital City of India"

Balai Chandra Das

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The research topic is notably fascinating and engaging; however, certain essential points require attention:

Establish a clear and logical order for headings and subheadings within sections.

Avoid assigning more than one distinct figure under a single figure number. In such instances, consolidate and label them as subparts (e.g., a, b, c) and provide a single, comprehensive caption for all parts. This suggestion applies to tables as well, and adherence to the journal's style is advised.

Incorporate statistical analysis of numerical data to bolster your findings.

Adhere to the standard structure of a research paper, including sections such as Introduction, Methods, Findings, Discussion, Conclusion, and References.

Ensuring these aspects will enhance the clarity and organization of your research paper, aligning it with best practices and the preferred style of the chosen journal.

Specific and detailed issues to be addressed are appended in the PDF file of the manuscript.