

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Contact Lens Overwear Syndrome

National Cancer Institute

Source

National Cancer Institute. Contact Lens Overwear Syndrome. NCI Thesaurus. Code C50504.

Ocular pain which may be very intense, accompanied by corneal epithelium damage, conjunctival injection, lacrimation, blepharospasm, photophobia and hazy vision following corneal edema caused by overwear of contact lenses, principally the PMMA type.