The review is concise, and the authors should consider examining the following aspects prior to publication:

1. grammar and typographical errors, particularly the term "hypoglycemic" in section 5.1 the need for italicization of the phrase "in-vitro" in section 5.2
2. verification of subscripts such as IC₅₀, CCl₄, and H₂O₂; elimination of unnecessary hyphens in section 5.6; and
3. the inclusion of a tabulated representation of the compounds specifically associated with the treated ailment.
