Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The paper is quite informative and up-to-date. However, it is missing a methodology section. If this is based just on literature, then the authors can add on a section on where these literature/journals are from. This would enhance the paper.

The figures/images on this paper is unclear. Please do take that into account, to be amended.

Under the implication, it is best if authors could show implications in theory, practice or empirically. I believe this paper has much implications that has not been added in the current manuscript.
