

Review of: "Traditional phytotherapies used by the midwives for the treatment of uterine prolapse in district Kathua, JKUT, India"

Norzila Ismail¹

¹ Universiti Sains Malaysia

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Comments and suggestion for article 'Traditional phytotherapies used by the midwives for the treatment of uterine prolapse in district Kathua, JKUT, India'

1. Was there any Human Ethics approval applied for the study? Any study that involve human including an interview needs Human Ethics approval which should comply with the Declaration of Helsinki.
2. In the abstract: 'A total of seven plants from seven families, along with cinnabar (HgS) were used to cure a prolapsed uterus.' -please put the full name of HgS [mercury(II) sulfide], before its short form.
3. In the result- Have the midwives been asked about the number of successful treatment? (how effective the treatments are)
4. 'Their main jobs after childbirth includes massage and prescribe remedy, if the newborn baby gets ill, and massage and diet of the mother.' - Please recheck this statement (in discussion) because it's quite confusing

