

Review of: "The Global Impact on Health of Dental Infections and Antibiotic Resistance:A mini Reveiw"

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The authors have visibly done a decent review of literature but the manuscript is poorly structured, lacks clarity, cohesion, and logical links between the paragraphs. The paper should be restructured with a clear emphasis on what is the author actually trying to say. The authors should clearly state the main points and then clearly support those statements with findings from available literature. In addition, after raising concerns about dental abscesses, associated microorganisms and potential antibiotic resistance, the authors do not provide any sort of synthesis or conclusion. It also seems that the authors are not impartial by stating "it is our responsibility to stay informed..." which does not seem appropriate for a review. Please restructure the paper, make more logical links between paragraphs and clarify what you are trying to say. Make sure the main point gets through clearly and that the reader can walk away without being confused.
