

Review of: "‘Women come out for less important tasks’: Understanding the reality of the gendered transport sector in Karachi through Key-Informant Interviews"

Harshit Agarwal¹

¹ Aligarh Muslim University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Strengths

The paper is well-written and easy to read. The research methodology is sound and the findings are clearly presented. The paper makes a valuable contribution to our understanding of the gendered transport sector in Karachi.

Weaknesses

The study is based on a small sample size of transport experts. The findings may not be generalizable to all transport experts in Karachi. The paper does not discuss the potential impact of the findings on transport policy and planning.

Recommendations

The authors could strengthen the paper by increasing the sample size of transport experts. The authors could also discuss the potential impact of the findings on transport policy and planning.

Overall

This is a well-written and informative paper that makes a valuable contribution to our understanding of the gendered transport sector in Karachi. The paper would be strengthened by addressing the weaknesses identified above.