

Review of: "Human Rights Aspects in Infrastructure Projects in the President Regulation Number 120 Year 2022"

Nathalia Roland¹

¹ Universidade Federal de Juiz de Fora

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article focuses on the important application of human rights in public policies. However, it requires enhancements in terms of structure and critical analysis. It is necessary to further develop the study to ensure it adheres to the classic structure of a scientific article, including an introduction, literature review, methodology, results and discussion, and conclusions. Therefore, it is advised that the author delves deeper into the ongoing analysis.