Overall this article is best and covered the necessary steps which author mentioned in their research problem. I have some suggestions that should be revised:

1. Review the abstract and conclusion part which should be completely define the problem with the proposed solution including findings.
2. Revise the proposed model figure and elaborate in detail.
3. Literature review should be summarized in tabular form where author should discuss problem address, their proposed solution for each technique.
4. Summarize the equations and the necessary equations mention in the sentences.
5. Check grammatical and syntax errors in the whole research paper.
