

Review of: "COVID-19: Health risk factors among students' population in Albania"

Mohammad Anisur Rahaman

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

1. The title should be reworded to consider contemporary research titles, not appropriate. Students are enough, don't write the students' population.
2. Rewrite sentences in a professional manner from an academic point of view.
3. Should mention COVID-19, not covid-19! The same structure of COVID-19 should be maintained throughout the paper.
4. The language is very simple and uses very plain English.
5. Professional proofreading is required and sentences are rewritten from start to finish. Data analysis is very simple and same calculation style. Examine and analyze data from various analytical angles.
6. The conclusion is not enough to resolve what the author wanted. The recommendation section should also be enriched.