

Review of: "Aquaponics Unveiled: Efficient Household Farming"

Lean Karlo S. Tolentino¹

¹ Technological University of the Philippines

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

"Aquaponics Unveiled: Efficient Household Farming" by Dai-Long Ngo-Hoang offers a detailed exploration of aquaponic systems, explaining components like fish tanks and filtration methods. The paper's strength lies in its practicality, showcasing modifications to traditional systems. It empowers readers with insights for informed decision-making. However, some might find it lacking in advanced technical details and innovative techniques, making it more suitable for beginners.