The title of the manuscript should be revised to read as follows: "Impact of Exchange Rate and Inflation on Unemployment in Nigeria: ARDL Model Approach." The abstract needs to be restructured to contain clear sections, including objectives, methodology, results, and policy suggestions. In the introduction, the manuscript should address the goal, motivation, methodology, and conclusion, without using any literature. The methodology section should particularly emphasize model building and hypothesis testing. The results section should include a forecast model.
