Thank you for the opportunity to review this manuscript I read the manuscript in detail and the manuscript is well-structured and written in a good manner. However, I raised major comments and suggestions below. I'm hopeful the comments below can help fill these gaps and improve the quality of the paper.

The paper's overall language quality is a little low; there are numerous grammatical errors throughout the entire manuscript. Before the next submission, I recommend that the entire manuscript be revised by a native English speaker. Extensive literature, including systematic reviews and meta-analyses, was available in Nigeria. So, Do your findings differ from the previous ones? What new evidence will be added for Nigeria and the scientific communities? Your study design did not answer your objective because the title seems like comparative cross-sectional. So, how do we address this? I recommended a major revision because your study's title and study design confused me and unable to provide further comment before revise study design.
