

Review of: "[Short Communication] Immunology of a Morbillivirus: Measles 1954 to 2023"

Alessandro Nutini

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The paper appears well done and addresses the topic with good specificity.

The proposed review may be useful to have a fairly complete picture of Morbillivirus infection and to have a panoramic vision of the action of the immune system in this type of infection, even if, as correctly written, there may be limitations due to in vivo/in vitro studies.

This work, in my opinion, can be published.