Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The manuscript was reviewed thoroughly for grammatical mistakes and anticancer studies with various mechanistic approaches. The manuscript is recommended for publication after some minor corrections.

1. The manuscript should be read thoroughly for spelling mistakes, and the language should be uniform.
2. Mechanistic studies are well explained; however, it needs some graphical representations.
3. The manuscript is well explained regarding the comparative study of synthesized nanoparticles and free cinnamaldehyde; however, the author should mention the dose of nanoparticles and free cinnamaldehyde.
4. There are no statistical tools used in the manuscript; if added, it will improve the worth of the manuscript.
