

Peer Review

Review of: "Sustainability in the Hotel Sector: A Research Study in Greece"

Ngoni Courage Shereni¹

1. School of Tourism and Hospitality, University of Johannesburg, South Africa

Thank you for the opportunity to review the manuscript titled 'Sustainability in the Hotel Sector: A Research Study in Greece'. My comments are as below:

- The aim of the study stated in the abstract and the section Post-COVID sustainability momentum is different. You need to align the two.
- In the section Post-COVID sustainability momentum, discuss the implications of increased tourist arrivals on sustainability practices in the hotels.
- What are the various operational strategies employed by the Four Seasons Astir Palace Hotel Athens?
- The discussion section only focused on the environmental pillar and minimally discussed the social and economic pillars.

Overall, this is an interesting study that relied on a case study approach to highlight various sustainability issues in the Greek hotel sector.

Declarations

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.