The paper is very interesting.

However, it does not follow the IMRAD structure and therefore it is difficult to follow the paper.

In addition, it is unknown what the real aim of the paper is. Consequently, the scientific attribution of the paper is difficult to recognize.

Research questions and hypotheses are not defined.

It is suggested to write in the third person in a passive manner.

Figures do not have all the necessary information (like axis labels).

Important terms tend not to be defined appropriately.

The scenario estimates are not explained well. It is unknown how the estimates are calculated (used methodological approach?).
