

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Nanobomb

National Cancer Institute

Source

National Cancer Institute. Nanobomb. NCI Thesaurus. Code C62367.

An explosive device comprised of carbon nanotubes. These nanoscale devices have desirable optical and thermal properties that can be exploited for novel cancer therapeutics. The ability to manipulate these properties facilitates a controlled, localized activation and clearance mechanism of diseased or abnormal cells.