This is an interesting study which was well conducted with good explanation of the process. However, the paper does need to be addressed by an English language editor as there are many grammatical issues leading to some sentences that are incomprehensible. Furthermore, the purpose statement needs to be clearer. The authors state they were exploring the impact of the Figurenotes teaching method combined with the HMEAYC concept in children with and without ASD. There needs to be a clearer explanation of "impact" and why this is quantifiably measurable. I would like to see this published, but it does need revision.
