Comments on the article "Tourists' Activities and their Impacts on Chinhoyi Caves Heritage Site, Zimbabwe". The topic is very interesting for the scientific community. I have enjoyed reviewing it, especially the part related to the sustainability. I believe it contains useful data pertinent to the journal. However I have some comments to the authors to improve the content of the manuscript. First of all, more information about managerial activities of protecting the site should be provided, as this is a sensitive environment. Also, some information about benefits to the local community is missing. This will certainly improve the article.
