Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The paper's general idea is an interesting topic to make a bridge between decision making processes and stakeholders responsibility. However, there is no original approach to tackle that. Moreover, thoretical framework seems to be antique and there is no empirical focus.

In other hand, the reading is really nice. I enjoyed it. I suggest in the future, open mind to tackle the claim using new ideas, agile frameworks and mindset of fintech or new tech's organisation forms.
