Thank you for the opportunity to reflect on this fine paper. I really appreciate this work of service. As a professor of mathematics education, the authors gave me much to think about in relation to how I might apply this concept to my area. As I thought more about this work, I realized that this is the real strength of this work. It enables us to expand and think about what we teach and how this process of teaching and learning might engage our students in community development. My heartfelt congratulations to the authors!
