

Review of: "Extension and Revision of Monetary Policy Transmission Mechanisms and Their Impact on Domestic Real Investment in Nigeria: A Time Series Study from 1981 to 2015 by Lucky Anyike and Uzah Cheta Kingsley"

Mustafa Kirca

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The manuscript has shortcomings in terms of literature review and econometrics.

The literature review should be expanded.

In the methodology section, descriptive statistics of the relevant VAR(p) models should be tested.

In particular, methods that take into account time series features should be used. Newly developed tests can be applied.

Structural breaks in variables may affect both the stationarity levels of variables and the relationships between variables. I recommend methods that take this into account.