Abstract: Please provide concrete recommendations (the last line).

Introduction: Support your statements with relevant literature and citations.

Specific objective "b" is not addressed by your findings; "d" is too vague to be addressed by your research findings.

Table 1: Is the mean calculated only after converting the ordinal categorical responses into numerical values?

4.2 The descriptive statistics analysis only presents the results and lacks the supporting evidence reviewed from existing literatures.

The discussion part is missing. What is the relevance of this study?

Typographical errors and mean values can be rounded, for example, in 4.3 "1. Accordingly, the mean value of item one, "I Perceived Value for Money for Product I Purchased From Cooperatives In Our Woredas," was 2.7588, which means if cooperatives quality product members are satisfied with the product."

Conclusion: The first line is not based on your research findings, i.e., "The study conducted on factors affecting employee motivation in the public sector found that salary, promotion, job satisfaction, recognition, and work conditions have a positive and statistically significant effect on employee motivation."

Also, this one "Limited access to capital and financial resources, inadequate business management skills, market competition, and member participation are some of the obstacles they encounter. Overcoming these challenges requires strong leadership, capacity-building initiatives, support networks, and collaboration with stakeholders" is not based on your research or primary data.

Finally, this paper needs major revisions to be published.
