1. ChatGPT has already had an impact on many fields, especially in the academic domain. Many countries have developed regulations specifically for ChatGPT. It is recommended to provide additional information.
2. This article summarizes the current applications and contributions of ChatGPT, but there are still many aspects not mentioned. For example, the database is only updated until 2021, and there are still errors in interpreting commands.
3. For subsequent updates to LLM and more user-friendly interfaces, it is suggested to provide additional descriptions. Future LLM updates may focus on improving the model's understanding, reducing errors, and incorporating more recent data. Enhancing the user interface can make the system more intuitive, accessible, and efficient for a wider range of users.
