

Review of: "Healthcare Systems Moving Toward Data Governance-Centered Model: India's G20 Presidency in the Wake of COVID"

Tim Hulsen¹

¹ Philips

Potential competing interests: Tim Hulsen is an employee of Philips.

This short manuscript describes how India can move towards a data governance-centered model in healthcare.

A few questions:

- The manuscript emphasizes the importance of India's current G20 presidency many times, but what has stopped India in the past years from improving data governance in healthcare? Why does India need the G20 presidency to take these steps?
- I think G20 is all about collaboration, but the manuscript mainly describes developments within India. How does India adopt healthcare-related research from other countries, and how can India help other countries to improve their healthcare? This will certainly be important if there will be another epidemic like COVID-19. Some international collaboration is mentioned in the "Prioritizing Digital Health: Key Focus Areas" section, but please expand on this.

Despite the relatively short text, there is some repetition that should be avoided.

Example:

"With the G20 India presidency, the country has an opportunity ..."

"India's G20 presidency for the year 2023 presents a great opportunity ..."

"With the presidency of the G20 group in 2023, the country has an opportunity ..."

"India's G20 presidency provides an opportunity ..."

Textual:

"relatively a new" → "a relatively new"

“NDHM (National Digital Health Mission)” and “National Digital Health Mission (NDHM)” → introduce as “National Digital Health Mission (NDHM)”, then use the abbreviation for subsequent occurrences.