Respected authors,

1. As the study is all about exploring the experiences of physiotherapists, if possible, you can reduce the content in the background part, which is about the statistical aspect.
2. As you mentioned, healthcare professionals are responsible for spreading awareness about PFDs, how many educational workshops/seminars/webinars have been conducted for PTs, that can be added. (If possible, because that would add quality and also allow comparison to show that if PTs are not aware, then PTs are to be educated before the public.)
