

Review of: "Safe City Concept in Smart City Planning"

Tharsila Maynardes Dallabona Fariniuk

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This research is a very interesting topic that deserves attention and more discussion in academia and government. The article is well written to draw the reader's attention to important topics. However, some points can be improved. The following items are suggested to improve the quality of the article:

- The text will benefit from more theoretical references, presenting ideas and controversies raised by other researchers in the area of public security and cybersecurity.
- The methodology can be improved by detailing the research processes of each of the trained cases.
- Research findings and results can be better explained using a framework, for example.